Zaključci

- The impact of the FAIR project on the University of Split is best described as passive.
- In its road map, the university formally addressed the listed recommendations.
- However, the proposed measures have not been applied, mostly due to the reason of waiting for the national ENIC/NARIC guidelines.
- EUA notes that more pro-activeness should be presented when it comes to managing the internal recognition procedures, their integration with the admission procedures, and the internal quality assurance related to these procedures.
